This submission relates to a cooperative compliance initiative on global privacy expectations of Video Teleconferencing companies (VTC).

b. Please provide a full description of the initiative (no more than 350 words)

On July 21, 2020, six data protection and privacy authorities, brought together through the Global Privacy Assembly's International Enforcement Cooperation Working Group (IEWG), and a dedicated “safe space” session on VTC, published an open letter to video teleconferencing companies reminding them of their obligations to comply with the law and handle individuals’ personal information responsibly.

This joint statement was directly related to the sharp uptake in use of VTC services during the pandemic, and the new and exacerbated privacy and security risks that this raised. Key areas of concerns identified in the open letter included (i) security, (ii) privacy-by-design and default, (iii) importance for VTC platforms to know their audience, (iv) transparency and fairness, and (v) end-user control.

The open letter was intended for all VTC companies, but was also sent directly to Microsoft, Cisco, Zoom, Google and House Party. With the exception of the latter, these companies replied to the letter to demonstrate the steps taken to comply with data protection and privacy requirements. They highlighted various privacy and security best practices, measures and tools implemented or built into their video teleconferencing services.

In May 2021, joint signatories further engaged with each of these companies, fittingly through virtual meetings on VTC platforms, to illicit further detail on the privacy and security safeguards built into the VTC platforms, and to clarify certain areas of residual concern. This follow-up engagement gave these companies the opportunity to demonstrate their commitment to user security and privacy, and to explain how they implemented the measures set out in their responses.

This global Compliance initiative is expected to be finalized in July 2021, with the publication of a final statement on findings, lessons learned, enhancements made (owing to this engagement) and expectations to encourage broad-based compliance and best practices across the industry.

The U.K. Information Commissioner’s Office (ICO)
The Office of the Australian Information Commissioner (OAIC)
c. Please explain why you think the initiative deserves to be recognised by an award (no more than 200 words)

Efficient

Participant authorities demonstrated agility and efficiency in addressing an important and emerging privacy issue in the context of the pandemic. They reached consensus on the implemented compliance approach during a one-hour safe space meeting!

The non-formal compliance approach allowed us to gather substantial intelligence on the VTC industry without duplicative, resource-intensive investigations. Extremely high returns on collaborative enforcement investment.

Collaborative

We leveraged cooperation to:
- achieve high-level engagement from four key global players;
- benefit from the expertise of six authorities in developing communications, questions and analysis;
- carry out scalable enforcement action allowing regulators of various sizes and resource limitations to benefit from a global coordinated action for promoting an industry-wide compliance effect;
- allocate tasks (e.g., dividing interviews with VTCs according to time zones) to minimize the load on each authority; and
- amplify compliance messaging through unified communications.

Impactful

We generated powerful communications to share compliance expectations vis-à-vis VTC platforms (open letter), and then identify best practices (in upcoming release) to encourage broad-based compliance and improve industry-wide privacy protection on a global scale. Given the growing number of digital services that operate across the word, this initiative will have a significant impact on the protection of VTC consumer’s privacy worldwide.
