4. DESCRIPTION OF THE INITIATIVE

a. Please provide a brief summary of the initiative (no more than 75 words)

Held for the first time in 2023, the Danilo Doneda Award honors the late jurist and professor Danilo César Maganhoto Doneda, a key figure in data protection studies and policies in Brazil. The award promotes a culture of data protection among young researchers in Brazil. Entries must follow specific guidelines and be related to the ANPD's Regulatory Agenda 2023-2024 or Priority Themes 2024-2025. The 2024 edition features cash prizes and allows co-authored entries.

b. Please provide a full description of the initiative (no more than 350 words)

The Danilo Doneda Award, established in 2023, pays tribute to the legacy of Danilo César Maganhoto Doneda, a distinguished jurist and professor recognized for his significant contributions to data protection and public policy studies, both in Brazil and around the world. The aim of the competition is to promote reflection and scientific discussion in the field of privacy and data protection, thus expanding the frontier of knowledge on these topics. Submissions must meet all the requirements described in the notice and on the ANPD website, including formatting rules and relevance to the ANPD's 2023-2024 Regulatory Agenda or 2024-2025 Priority Themes Map. Eligible participants include university students enrolled in any undergraduate course at institutions recognized by the Ministry of Education, as well as recent graduates. Submissions are evaluated by a judging panel which selects the three best based on technical and scientific quality. The winners receive certificates and their work is published. The 2024 edition features several new improvements, including cash prizes: R$8,000 (around 1,400 euros) for first place, R$5,000 (around 870 euros) for second place and R$3,000 (around 520 euros) for third place. To encourage wider participation, the deadline between the candidates' graduation and the announcement of the competition has been extended. In addition, entries can now be co-authored by up to two people, and the prize money will be split between them.

c. Please explain why you think the initiative deserves to be recognised by an award (no more than 200 words)

The Danilo Doneda Award deserves recognition for several compelling reasons. First, it honors Professor Danilo César Maganhoto Doneda, a global key figure in data protection, ensuring his contributions are remembered. By fostering interdisciplinary knowledge in the data protection field, the award addresses a critical issue in the digital age, encouraging better policymaking, best practices, and safeguards for personal information.

The award targets undergraduate students and recent graduates, stimulating academic interest and stimulating academic interest and nurturing young researchers in their pursuit of data protection studies. The inclusion of cash prizes incentivizes excellence and ensures impactful submissions. The focus on themes relevant to the ANPD's Regulatory Agenda and Priority Themes ensures that the research contributes directly to policy development. Also, the end goal is to foster the emergence of a diverse new generation of scholars that are going to build Brazil's future on data protection and privacy.

Allowing co-authored papers fosters collaboration and broadens participation, enriching the pool of ideas and solutions presented. Extending the eligibility window increases accessibility, attracting a diverse range of participants. The publication and dissemination of winning papers raise public awareness about data protection issues, educating a broader audience.

Finally, the award aligns with the ANPD's mission to build a culture of data protection in Brazil, reinforcing its commitment to this crucial area. Overall, the Danilo Doneda Award effectively promotes academic excellence, policy development, and public awareness in data protection, making it a highly deserving recipient of recognition.
